

Time-line History of the Lycavorian Union

City Ship 41 CRASHES ON LYCAVORE ON A SEED MISSION. 989,768 Pralors survive the crash, City Ship 41 suffers extensive damage but is fully intact.	38,000 B.C.
	36,355 B.C.	A twenty person Lycavorian hunting party stumbles across a Pralor gathering and four Pralors are infected by the Lycan virus. The twenty hunters willingly remain among the Pralor people and more relationships ensue.
An attempt to contact the Pralor homeworld via a repaired communications array reveals a new war has broken out in Pralor space and their homeworld is destroyed.	36,312 B.C.
	36,169 B.C.	Chief Elder Pralor Sumar and Chief Elder Vizier Wayonn make the decision to begin to blend the surviving Pralors into the Lycavorian population so that their race does not die out completely. They believe their influence will have a calming affect on the more animalistic tendencies of the Lycavorian people as a whole.
Wayonn and the first ten thousand Pralors disperse among the six most powerful Lycavorian ruling packs.	36,115 B.C.
	36,111 - 31,101 B.C.	Over the next five millennia the remaining Pralors are turned and absorbed into the species known as Lycavorian
Sumar is the last of his people to join with the Lycavorian people, finally discovering a strong female in the most powerful pack of Lycavorians. The difference in the species as a whole is telling and they are already showing signs of outgrowing their more savage natures.	31,034 B.C.
	31,000 - 21,000 B.C.	Nearly ten thousand years pass and with the six largest and most powerful Lycavorian Ruling Packs now almost completely mixed with Pralor blood the species is beginning to advance at a rapid rate though one pack still clings to many of the by now ancient and barbaric traditions.
A Pralor scout ship sent to find the lost city ships is forced to land on Elear after its Quantum engines were damaged. They discover 3 sentient species on this planet: The Kavgart, the forerunners to today's Elves and Dragons	30,790 B.C.
	30,290 B.C.	Pralor Artre with the backing of Pralor Arzoal convinces the Dragon Elder Council and the Commander of the surviving Pralors that they could devise a serum that would make the Kavgart peaceful thus stopping the attacks on them for the last 500 years. Arzoal at the time knew the serum wouldn't work but said nothing for she had fell in love with Artre. 100 Dragons volunteer to help and a lab is setup on the other side of the planet.
Pralor Arzoal confronts Artre over his plans for the now complete serum. Artre then stabs Arzoal in the chest mortally wounding her and then leaves her to die. Arzoal knowing she was dying uses a PTC to transfer her mind into a Dragon egg in its first stage of development. Arzoal was 9,300 years old at the time	30,200 B.C.
	30,198 B.C.	The renegade Pralor Artre uses the serum developed from Kavgart and Lycavorian DNA to transform the 100 Dragons that follow him. These transformed Dragons then are able to breed with Kavgart females to produce the fore runners of today's Kavallians.
The Dragon egg that Pralor Arzoal transferred her mind into hatches and retains all of the knowledge of her former Pralor life.	30,086 B.C.
	30,077 B.C.	Arzoal is named a Dragon Elder at the physical age of 9.
Dragon Elder Arzoal convinces the Dragon Elder Council to declare war on the renegade Pralor Artre and his followers	30,075 B.C.
	29,993 B.C.	The war between the Dragons and the renegade Pralor Artre ends when Arzoal kills Artre in what is the present day Dragon Mountain on Elear. The surviving Proto Kavallians and Kavgart are exiled to the planet Cabelair and transported there in the partially repaired scout ship.
	29,952 B.C.	The first of the Elves as we know them today is born on Elear
	29,950 B.C.	Arzoal is named Dragon Elder Mother and she decides that the Dragons must leave Elear so that the Elves can grow with out interference. The first wave of Dragons leave Elear at this time
The first wave of Dragons contacts Arzoal and tells her they have landed on a planet close to 50,000 light years away from Elear and it is suitable for the Dragons. They Send back the scout ship on remote with an expected time for the trip of 2 years	29,945 B.C.
	29,943 B.C.	The second wave of Dragons leave Elear with all of the remaining Dragon eggs
The scout ship finally returns to Elear after 9,000 years instead of the expected 4 years and with no contact from the first or second waves of Dragons. The ship also comes back battered and beaten, but all systems functioning. Dragon Elder Mother Arzoal and The last of the Dragons leave Elear but settle on the planet Enurra. Arzoal can't bring herself to leave this quadrant of space. The fate of the other Dragons is not known at this time.	20,943 B.C.
Avatar 41 completes repairs on City Ship 41's lone remaining transport	20,899 B.C.
	20,896 B.C.	Sumar and Wayonn, now senior members of their Ruling Packs, hold a lottery of the original Pralors to ask for volunteers to return to their homeworld and discover what has come of their people.
Wayonn leads nearly twenty thousand as they board the remaining transport for return to the Pralor homeworld. Among the crew are his Lycavorian bride who he has come to worship and all of their thirteen children.	20,759 B.C.
	20,754 B.C.	The five year trip lands them in the middle of a horrendous war zone. The Pralor species is being systematically obliterated planet by planet. Wayonn quickly decides they they can not remain and directs that they begin to return. Their ship is heavily damaged during the escape but they do manage to engage their Quantum Fusion Drive one last time at the cost of three hundred lives.
The damaged OF Drive drops them into what would later become Protectorate Space where they settle on a world much like Lycavore.	20,753 B.C.
	20,689 B.C.	Sumar and his wife and male become parents to their first born son Resumar. Resumar's two brothers and one sister follow within the next decade.
Wayonn and those with him complete construction of a five hundred person transport which is then used to transport Wayonn's youngest son Canth and his two oldest children back to Lycavore.	20,256 B.C.
	20,214 B.C.	The Lycavorian people are on their way to prosperity and choose a form of government that will allow them to pick a King from the strongest among them.
Eliani is born. Resumar is smitten when he first sees her when she is only twenty-three.	20,212 B.C.
	20,211 B.C.	Canth returns with his five hundred people and immediately becomes Resumar's closest friend and advisor.
Resumar is chosen as King with nearly 80% of the popular vote and the full backing of five of the six Lycavorian Ruling Packs. His drive to see his people succeed and his honor is beyond question among their people. He is the largest wolf to have ever lived up until this time. Only the Ruling Pack under Chetak refuses to acknowledge him as King, though they are overruled. This would begin the feud between the two men.	20,125 B.C.	Canth is the first to know that Eliani is the true strength behind Resumar and he encourages his friend to see her and court her whenever possible.
	20,120 B.C.	Canth is named as the First Oracle of the Lycavorian people
Eliani and Resumar begin planning their life together as she awaits her coming of age. They have a love that is talked about among their people on a daily basis and only confirms for them that they made the right choice.	20,093 B.C.
	20,092 B.C.	In an act of total disregard for the gains the Lycavorian people have made for themselves, Chetak violently and against her wishes, claims Eliani in the midst of her Coming of Age fever. Resumar is on the opposite side of the planet and unable to challenge him for her. This sets off feelings of retribution and violence with many calling for Resumar to take her back by force
Eliani's sister comes to Resumar and Canth about the Lunmai that Eliani is experiencing. The three of them plot to have Resumar take Eliani back using this little known Second Coming of Age Fever.	20,092 B.C.
	20,091 B.C.	Using the little known condition called the Lunmai, Resumar reclaims Eliani on a full moon, consecrating their union by the sharing of blood at the height of their passion and fully claiming her under the Centennial of the Moon as his Anome. History scrolls would later record that her howls of bliss and happiness still danced among those mountain tops decades later.
Chetak challenges Resumar, sending his two sons to attack him immediately. Resumar kills Chetak's sons with little effort and Chetak is severely wounded when he attempts to strike Eliani's Anome from behind. Her wolf claws open his chest to the bone in defense of her beloved Resumar. Chetak and his pack are banished to a remote island on the far side of the planet forever and forbidden to return upon pain of execution.	20,091 B.C.
	20,054 B.C.	Resumar and Canth work for over three years with members of the five Ruling Lycavorian Packs and establish the Seventeen Chronicles of Lycavorian Law and The First Oracle's Declaration They are passed by referendum of the people with no dissenting votes.
Over the course of the next five millennia Lycavore prospered and grew. The leadership of Resumar and Eliani as King and Queen cemented the love and adoration of the Lycavorian people.	20,052 - 14,954 B.C.
	19,500 B.C.	Census taken in 19,500. Total population of Lycavore 877,000,000,000
One month after the birth of Resumar and Eliani's first daughter, an event that turned into a weeklong party, Lycavore was shattered by the Black Day. Fleets of High Coven warships, millions of High Coven troops swarming their defenses. They never stood a chance. It took only two days to sweep the Lycavorian ships from the stars, they were not truly warships to begin with. It took longer to conquer them on their planet, and when they had claimed nearly a million High Coven lives, the poison missiles came.	14,953 B.C.	Like black clouds across the skies they came. And Lycavorians died. When it was over, over six hundred billion had been killed. The rest were enslaved and only the fact that the High Coven had spared Resumar and Eliani saved the Lycavorian people from extinction. Canth survives but his beloved wife and two children are believed dead in the mass executions that took place in the capital just before the war's end.
Chetak leads his pack to Enurra after escaping the shattered remains of their homeworld. On Enurra they find the Dragons from Elear and start trophy hunting them.	14,952 B.C.
	14,951 B.C.	This was the year that began the slavery and oppression of the Lycavorian people. Resumar and Eliani knew that in order for their people to survive they would have to endure the oppression of their People and all the High Coven could do to them.
Canth and Resumar, combined with the remaining leaders of the Ruling Packs begin to make solid friendships with other races they had never seen before. Among these species are the Algolians, the Hadarians and the Elves.	14,947 B.C.
	14,539 B.C.	Wayonn makes the decision to remain away from Lycavore and risk exposing their Lycavorian society to the High Coven oppression. It is a decision he makes with a heavy heart knowing his dear friend Sumar is long dead and he can do nothing to help his son.
Canth forms the School of the Oracles at the main Lycavorian Worker Settlement and begins to teach the skills his father passed on to him. Working in concert with Resumar, Eliani and many of the most powerful Mindvoicers among the Lycavorian people, he begins to instruct them in the finer uses of Mindvoice and how they can support their people. Within a decade three branch academies are opened at other settlement moons and camps.	12,561 B.C.
	11,689 B.C.	The Protectorate is officially born under Wayonn and the leadership of Canth's youngest children. Among them Dutkne's father.
The Protectorate and the Vanari Empire have First Contact. Several violent skirmishes ensue over the ability of the Vanari females to influence all males and many females with the oil they secrete through their skin. A full scale war is averted when a mutual non-aggression pact is forged by Wayonn and Dutkne's father.	10,658 B.C.
	10,416 B.C.	Wayonn begins making secret trips into The Wilds and High Coven space in the hopes of making contact with Resumar. He is unsuccessful in his attempts to penetrate High Coven security.
The Elven King and his bloodline is executed on Elear for him speaking out against the High Coven. The remaining members of the Elven Parliament secretly swear their allegiance to Resumar and Eliani as their new King and Queen. The elven King's remaining two children are spirited away and hidden among the many Lycavorian settlements and moons.	10,347 B.C.	The remaining Elven Princess is named as their first Elven concubine however and a deep and abiding love grows between the three of them over the course of the years.
On one of his journeys into The Wilds Wayonn discovers and makes contact with a lone female Pralor. He discovers she is the last of the pure Pralor species, an Acolyte, escaping into the unknown as their species died around her slaughtered by The Scourge. Shiria becomes his most important asset and connection within this Quadrant of space. In her possession is VORTEX Cruiser 341.	10,253 B.C.
	10,247 B.C.	The first inklings of rebellion begin to form in the minds of Resumar and the other leaders.
The Elves, Hadarians, Algolians and Nodon all secretly agree to a leadership pact under Resumar and begin to plan the rebellion that will free them from the yoke of High Coven oppression.	9,782 B.C.
	9,694 B.C.	Resumar and Eliani's five children begin to shuttle back and forth between Lycavorian slave settlements in an attempt to confuse the High Coven as to their actual whereabouts. By now the love between Eliani and their elven concubine has grown to the point that both of them refuse to be separated from Resumar for any length of time and her elven abilities within Mindvoice have grown to such an extent she is considered one of the most powerful among them. She has been wolf for nearly five hundred years now, and at Eliani's urging and desire she finally allows herself to become pregnant with Resumar's child.
Wayonn is not pleased with Shiria's decision to remain among the Kavalian people and try to temper their more violent nature. Their culture is even more barbaric than the Lycavorians when he and Sumar first discovered them. Shiria then explains to Wayonn why that is and Wayonn realizes that there is a final Pralor somewhere out there among the stars. A Pralor that is older than even him.	8,598 B.C.
	8,521 B.C.	Chetak and his people begin to hunt Dragons in order to harvest their bodies for enormous profit within The Wilds. Prior to this Chetaks tribe only hunted Dragons for Sport now they are on the verge of committing genocide. This begins the Dragon/Lycavorian Wars on Enurra.
In an effort to save at least some of her kind the Dragon Elder Mother Arzoal sends several thousand of her kind off Enurra to parts unknown.	3,948 B.C.
	2,675 B.C.	After several clashes with High Coven officers over their raping of Lycavorian females, the High Coven declares the School of the Oracles closed and all students and teachers executed. Only Canth is spared and he frantically helps several dozen of his Oracles escape into the Unknown of The Wilds.
Resumar and the other leaders, among them the Hadarian Queen and great grandmother in King Yel'u begin to meet and pool resources and intelligence in preparation of launching their rebellion against the High Coven.	1,909 B.C.
	1,815 B.C.	Two surviving Oracles from the last Oracle Academy to be destroyed give birth to a young girl they name Dusha. They are among the most powerful of the surviving Oracles and have only communicated with the First Oracle via holocommunication. They immediately begin to instruct their daughter in the ways of the Lycavorian Oracles, somehow knowing she will one day be meant for something great.
At only one hundred and seven years of age, Dusha has shown unprecedented progress and ability within Mindvoice. One of the last surviving Oracles, hounded by the High Coven and eventually trapped, passes on all he is to her during the Change of the Oracles.	1,708 B.C.
	1101 B.C.	Dusha arrives on Earth to become Oracle to the Spartan people. After five hundred years of farming and hiding, she believes she has finally found a people that most seem like her own.
Eliani and her elf lover come up with an idea that will insure the survival of the Lycavorian people if their rebellion is crushed. Using Canth as their conduit, they send out word to all the surviving Oracles to find suitable hosts. Resumar refuses at first to resort to such tactics but is soon convinced by the two women he worships above everything else.	902 B.C.
	786 B.C.	Dusha contacts Canth, and through him explains that Earth and the Spartan people would be perfect for them to emulate.
King Resumar orders that the Chosen Ten Thousand immediately be taken from their mother's wombs and be transported to Earth under the care of the Oracle Dusha. Within hours of the final transport departing and carrying what could be the only survivors of their Lycavorian people, King Resumar, Queen Eliani and their beloved elf concubine fall in battle with the High Coven troops sent to assassinate them. Their children quickly follow their example of their parents and fall in battle fighting for their people. These selfless actions spark the rebellion into full action.	541 B.C.	Within six months time, the High Coven has lost control of over ninety percent of their slave encampments and along with a heartbroken Deia and hundreds of others paving the way, the United Lycavorian Union is born.
Canth is believed to have fallen with his King, the mortally wounded body of Bellic is taken to Uwkav where he is imprisoned by Veldruk in the hopes of obtaining knowledge and abilities from the man he knew as a son of a Pralor.	540 B.C.	King Leonidas is born.
	537 B.C.	Apo Prime is designated the new Lycavorian homeworld and capital of the United Lycavorian Union. Unbeknownst to the High Coven Enforcers, nearly five hundred million children had been born in captivity and it was these and the survivors of the Black Day who had settled Apo Prime.
After a two year long battle Hadaria is freed of High Coven oppression.	531 B.C.
	526 B.C.	A three year more free of battle that cost more than sixty million lives finally sees Elear once more long free of High Coven forces and finally free.
Gorgo is born to Leonidas's half brother, but even then, Leonidas could smell the pureness of the blood in her veins marking her as one of the Five Lycavorian Ruling Packs. He would never know why he needed her, only that he did. A need that was matched in every way by Gorgo herself, even from a very young age.	520 B.C.
	526-479 B.C.	As more and more worlds and species flocked to the protection of the fledgling Lycavorian Union, Deia and so many others struggle to make decisions and give them purpose in their actions.
King Leonidas of Sparta, last surviving child of King Resumar and Queen Eliani of the Lycavorian people, dies at a little known place on the planet Earth called Thermopylae. His sacrifice and the sacrifice of three hundred men who had only just discovered who and what they were was the catalyst for the Union to fully embrace all that they desired and move forward in the name of a King none of them had ever known.	479 B.C.	Four months after the death of Leonidas, Gorgo, just beginning to show the signs of her pregnancy, is removed from Earth at Dusha's direction. She carries with her one of two heirs to the Union throne and with the High Coven out to kill Leonidas's first born son, it is the only way to keep them safe.
	479 B.C.	(Author's Note: In actual Earth history, Gorgo is never heard from again after 480 B.C. and this is one of the reasons I went in the direction I did with TOEE.)
Martin Leonidas is born on a Union Heavy Cruiser nine months after the death of his father. Not yet six months old, he is placed in a Cryo chamber to keep him safe. Gorgo, still distraught over the death of her beloved Leonidas, does not even name him. Under the watchful and caring eye of a young Lycavorian Captain named Riall, she remains with the chamber nearly all the time.	478 B.C.
	468 B.C.	Remorseful over the death of his children and so many of his people and those he calls friends, but bolstered by their desire to not give up, Wayonn does not return to this Quadrant of space for nearly a thousand years.
The Genome Program is started by the United States under the direction of Dr. Walter Carson. Its aim is to create genetically enhanced soldiers (Genomes). The first such group of Genomes is given to the US Navy to train as SEALs.	2035 A.D.
	2053 A.D.	The US Navy activates the first Genome unit and designates it as SEAL Team 12 and places the Genome known as Martin Hunter in command of the team.
An unknown flaw in the Genome process has started causing the Genome's to mentally snap and go on rage fueled rampages.	2064 A.D.
Eden Moon Base nears completion and SEAL Team 12 is selected as the station security force.	2068 A.D.
	2068 A.D.	A mysterious comet passes between the earth and the moon, causing the inhabitants of the Eden Moon Base to experience time at a different rate then everyone else on the surface of the earth. It also causes the atmosphere to catch fire wiping out half of the total population of earth. This becomes known as the Great Fire by the survivors and their decedents
The atmosphere stops burning and the survivors come out of hiding. During those 5 years Dr. Walter Carson invented "sleep chambers" so that the scientists could live would last longer by being awake 5 years and then sleeping for 5. Over the next 5 years Dr. Carson using his knowledge from the Genome Program creates the first Elves on the planet earth to help humanity recover from the Great Fire.	2073 A.D.
	2106 A.D.	Over the last 28 years the Elves that Dr. Walter Carson created have been pressed into slavery. First in black market operations then slowly becoming the norm. During his last sleep cycle a new government was formed that institutionalized the practice. They also took his research and started conducting horrific experiments. Upon awaking in 2103 Dr. Carson plotted to help the Elves by genetically putting the will to resist into his latest batch of created Elives.
The inhabitants of Eden Moon Base return to experiencing "normal" time, finding the world they left behind radically changed.	2546 A.D.
